

Date

Identify rhetorical questions

Draw two headings in your book:

Rhetorical questions

Non-rhetorical questions

Cut out the questions and put them under the correct heading

Which dress should I wear?

How could I wear any other dress?

Is there anything more exciting than this?

Where do you think would be more fun?

Which way do you think we should go next?

How have you managed to get us so lost?

Have you ever seen anything as beautiful as that?

Do you think this is a beautiful place?

Surely there isn't any better game than this one?

What do you think about the game?

Do you agree with what the other people think?

Nine out of ten people can't be wrong, can they?

Extension: Write some of your own rhetorical questions. Write them about things that you love or really enjoy?

Answers

Rhetorical questions

Which dress should I wear?

Is there anything more exciting than this?

How have you managed to get us so lost?

Have you ever seen anything as beautiful as that?

Surely there isn't any better game than this one?

Nine out of ten people can't be wrong, can they?

Non-rhetorical questions

How could I wear any other dress?

Where do you think would be more fun?

Which way do you think we should go next?

Do you think this is a beautiful place?

What do you think about the game?

Do you agree with what the other people think?